He appears distant at times, but can be intensely concentrated whenever he feels the need. You can often find him roaming the streets looking for a good cause or a good challenge. About the special outfits When Dice was caught by the Shine City Police in the Sewage Facility he was forced to make his escape by dropping straight down into the pipes. What's new in Project Hive:

The Northern Regime () was the loosely defined term for the set of reforms to education and justice implemented by the Spanish government under Francisco Franco starting in the mid-1950s, ending with his death in 1975. Impact Education was one of Franco's major contributions to the development of Spain during the course of his regime. Unlike the regime of Miguel Primo de Rivera, who was mainly interested in defending Francoism, it was more open to modernist ideas and was the first to introduce the separation of church and state in 1934. Additionally, on the educational front, it introduced universal education, the right for non-Catholics to attend religious education and enabled access to secondary education. The regime also introduced a process of de-Islamisation in the 1940s. On 22 February 1953, a Civil Action Law was promulgated. This law unified certain, prior conflicting laws regarding the integration of Muslims into Spanish society; these laws recognized the Islamic religious education as an exercise of the rights of citizens and endowed the existing Moriscos with full citizenship under the right of self-regulation, which required them to hand in their books to the Ministry of Education, that the Muslim children would be given the Christian religious education, and that parents of non-Muslim children should be willing to let their children to attend lessons in the Islamic religious education program. The regime also granted the autonomy of the universities and was the first to pass comprehensive laws regulating student life, from the right to use the smoking and drinking on campus to the inauguration of socio-political clubs; initial proposals for the joint law already existed but were only adopted after 1936. Some of the numerous laws of the Northern Regime during the 1940s and 1950s concerning the right to organize and to exist of the students created important precedent with regards to the right to student organization. It was in this context that the Organization of Bilbao University (now the Organization of Free Universities, AObU) was established in 1943. However, following the end of the Spanish Civil War in 1939 and the unification of the northern and southern zones in 1952, the autonomy of the higher education institutions was gradually reduced by the decree of Separation of the Higher Education Institutions on 10 December 1952. Francoist Spain was an agricultural society with an agricultural economy predominantly based on the production of basic and secondary foodstuffs. This sector was the first to become more productive due to the new agronomical techniques. The number of farms increased from 4.8 million
